Your Mission – Reached.

Your goal is to develop innovative and much needed medicines, yet you face a multitude of challenges every day. Squeezed timelines, regulatory pressures and a lack of internal resources keep you jumping through hoops. You need an outsourcing partner who will help you reach your goal and ease the process, not hinder it.

Global Expertise.

For over a decade, Novella Clinical, operating as PharmaLinkFHI and Matrix Contract Research, has been supporting biologic and pharmaceutical sponsors with Phase I through post-marketing programs throughout the world. Now as one, we provide true global trial management in a seamless, efficient package. Although our staff's clinical experience is all-inclusive, our corporate areas of therapeutic concentration include: cardiovascular disease, CNS, dermatology, endocrinology, infectious diseases, oncology and urology.

The eClinical Advantage.

With Novella, you benefit from our ability to combine therapeutic expertise and operational excellence with a proven eClinical model. Unlike most CROs that utilize technology but implement programs using outdated paper processes, Novella Clinical was built from the ground up on a technology platform using eClinical processes. Over the past decade we have fine-tuned those processes to deliver a unique clinical trial that brings our sponsors' full transparency, smarter trial management and greater efficiencies including faster database locks.

Like Sized.

Your clinical program will never get lost with us, because we partner with like-sized biopharmaceutical companies. In fact, 70% of our development partners are small to mid-size companies like us. Our promise is to give your clinical program the individual attention it deserves. It's our unparalleled personal care and focus that continues to bring us a high rate of repeat business. After all, we share your same mission.

Our full array of clinical services can often eliminate your need to contract with multiple partners.
